

'TINA MURRAY'S BIO

'Tina Murray has been Designing Lives for over 30 years.

As a commercial Interior Designer she has interviewed hundreds of companies on their needs and aspirations and then created Strategic Plans to build the Culture they wanted. Often these relationships lasted for many years, with her role to not only design an effective environment, but to guide their staff through Disruption and Change.

Any renovation brings with it challenges, discomfort and opportunities for growth. Today as a Coach, Speaker, Podcaster, Author and Workshop Facilitator, 'Tina uses her innovative insights and deep understanding of human behaviour to empower her clients to lay their own foundations for personal fulfilment.

Great design is tailored specifically for the client's unique aspirations and needs. Likewise, 'Tina's Design You® process guides her clients to conceptualise, and then build their own Strategic Personal Brief and create a Blueprint to construct the life they really want.

SHORT BIO

On 24th February 2010, 'Tina Murray was made redundant from her Interior Design job with ONE WEEK'S PAY.

She was divorced, single, with a mortgage up to her ears and no back-up plan.

It was that day that she chose to stop simply existing and become the Architect of her Own Life.

Today as a Coach, Speaker, Podcaster, Author and Workshop Facilitator, 'Tina uses the Strategic Design Processes she implemented for over 30 years to empower her clients to lay their own Foundations for Personal Fulfilment.

SHORTER BIO

'Tina Murray has been Designing Lives for over 30 years.

Today as a Coach, Speaker, Podcaster, Author and Workshop Facilitator, 'Tina uses the same Strategic Design Processes she used to guide her Interior Design clients through disruption and change. Now, those Blueprints are used to empower men and women to lay their own Foundations for Personal Fulfilment.
